

Malcolm J. Kanter, MD

As a founding Managing Partner at Allexian, Malcolm continues to be instrumental in strategy, operations improvement and transaction and investment advice for growth oriented mid-cap health care companies. Prior to Allexian, Malcolm was CEO of Bridge Medical Group, a company providing healthcare products, services and consulting expertise to the healthcare industry, specifically the long term care sector. Included amongst the health care sectors where Malcolm has deep knowledge and expertise are Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement and regulations, Wound Care Management Services, Diagnostic Testing, Medical Device, Medical Technology, Clinical Trial Services, Long Term Care, Physician Services, Staffing Models and Rehabilitation.

Malcolm has provided consulting and management services to the Private Equity community, evaluating an array of healthcare companies for investment purposes including advising on acquisitions that have transacted. Malcolm has provided consulting advice, due diligence and transition management on deals ranging from physician service companies to real time blood analysis services and many in-between, with company size ranging from $5M to $100M. Malcolm's expertise includes Turnaround, Acquisition and Integration Strategy and Transition Management.

Prior to founding Bridge Medical Group, Malcolm was the CEO of the 2nd largest mobile diagnostic service company in the US, providing products and services in multiple states. During his 11 year tenure as CEO, Malcolm doubled the size of this company while always maintaining strong profit margins. Malcolm added multiple new product lines, successfully entered new States as part of his growth strategy and integrated acquisition growth during this time. While CEO, Malcolm was honored in 2005 by the 17 Nursing Homes of the New York Archdiocese for his efforts and accomplishments while providing services to the elderly and infirm.

Malcolm has been a successful leader with a verifiable track record and has always provided significant shareholder value. Amongst his many accomplishments has been his ability to maintain very strong relationships with C-level and ownership decision makers within the health care and investment communities.

Malcolm is a physician by background, graduating in South Africa. Malcolm trained in neurosurgery in South Africa and completed his fellowship in Traumatic Brain Injury at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas in 1991. While at Baylor, Malcolm's work with his colleagues was published numerous times in internationally recognized neurosurgery and traumatic brain injury journals. Malcolm also presented his team's research at international neurosurgery conferences.

For the last 19 years, Malcolm has achieved significant success as a healthcare executive and entrepreneur. Malcolm resides in Westchester County, NY. Malcolm can be contacted at Malcolm.Kanter@Allexian.com
